

ABSTRACT

A method for dosing reinforcing fibers in a mixing silo during the manufacture of fiber concrete. The reinforcing fibers as supplied in a chain packing of sacks. The sacks may be made of material which can be disintegrated in mortar or concrete. The chain packing including sacks filled with reinforcing fibers for carrying out the method may be made of material which can be disintegrated in mortar or concrete.